Personal Project

I developed a job market app for "Iranian Community North East" as a personal project. It is a full stack project using node.js and express to design a RESTful API at the backend where data are saved in an SQLite database. The frontend is running in React. In this app, users can register to the app and define projects. ICNE's clients can view these projects and apply for these opportunities. This app is reactive to the user's status.
